AN ADD-ON FOR INKLEDGER

Stitch

An embroidery hoop on your dashboard. The hours you log this week stitch a cross-stitch pattern, one cross at a time, and it is finished exactly when you reach your weekly goal.

MEET STITCH

A week of work, stitched

It moves only when something happens: the needle while a timer runs, new stitches when hours come in, a little gold when you close a ticket.

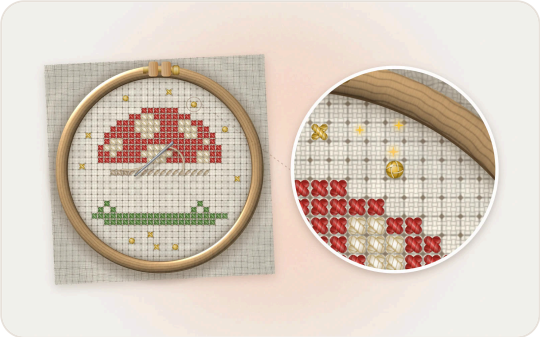

Stitched by your hours

A 24×24 pattern in a wooden hoop. Your weekly goal (your daily goal × 5, or 40 hours) finishes it.

Gold for closed tickets

Every closed ticket adds a gold cross around the motif; a high-priority one adds a French knot.

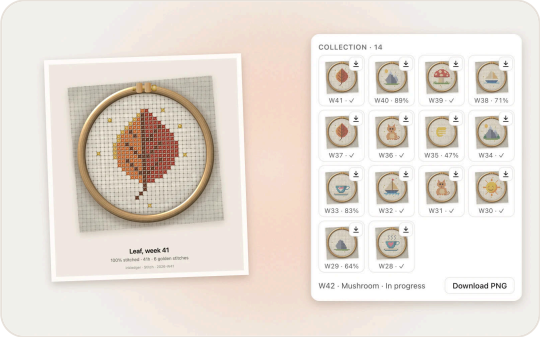

A collection that grows

On Monday the week joins your collection, finished or not, and every finished week unlocks a new pattern, in season first.

Any week, as a picture

Every week in the collection, and this one in progress, saves as a PNG with one click.

GET STITCH

Three steps, inside inkledger

1

Request a licence

In inkledger, open Settings → Store and press Request licence next to Stitch. It is in free release.

2

Wait for the approval

You can close the panel: once the request is approved, inkledger installs and activates the module by itself.

3

Start stitching

Open the dashboard: this week's hoop is under On your desk.

Good to know

- It runs inside your own inkledger: no account, no tracking. The licence is checked offline and is shared by everyone on your server.
- Its settings (show the golden stitches, move the needle while the timer runs) are in its sheet in Settings → Store.
- It respects the system's reduced-motion setting.
